Before Your First Appointment & What Information to Bring

Please arrive 15 minutes before your appointment to fill out the initial assessment forms. Please, bring ALL of your herbal, nutritional supplements and/or prescription medications. It is best to bring in the actual bottles, so we can look at the labels. This helps us check for possible herbal or nutritional drug interactions with medications. It is helpful in difficult cases for patients to bring a written list of all their prescription drugs and dietary supplements for your records. A list of your medical history and surgeries is also helpful. This will help us move through the assessment more efficiently.

If you have your medical records, please bring them to the appointment including recent lab work, urinalysis, medical test or blood tests. We do not need to see MRI, X-Ray or CAT Scan results. A recent log of blood pressure or blood glucose readings is helpful. This information will help us assure the safety of your program, as well as identify any possible nutrient deficiencies or drug interactions that have not been properly diagnosed. Please also bring a short list of your top five health goals and areas of concern.

The Initial Appointment

All clients receive a comprehensive sixty minute initial appointment. This ensures a complete assessment to address each individual's unique needs. The initial appointment focuses on a review of medical history, interpretation of labs, understanding patients' overall life story, TCM pulse assessment, TCM tongue assessment, physical nutrition assessment (hair, skin, nails, eyes, etc.), anthropometric assessment and complete herb assessment. Nicholas is an expert in these ancient and clinical assessment techniques. The information obtained shows the true root cause of disease, as well as how complex healing may be. When many patients have six diseases, many medications and a complicated health history, it is vital to really understand what we call the "origins story". The "origins story" is the complete synthesis of someone's entire life that led them to this point, especially focusing on knowing the true root cause.

Feel free to discuss anything with Nicholas what you feel is important to your healthcare. This includes: unique beliefs, religious beliefs, customs, dietary philosophies, ideas on the healing process, or any other important aspects of your life. We really want to know everything that has happened in your health history. Everything that is on your mind is important to the success of the case. You will not be judged and can be assured you will be accepted. We pride ourselves on being receptive, understanding, and caring.

All information is confidential. If you would like us to share information with family members, guardians or friends, we will need your approval to do so. This ensures a safe environment where any information can be discussed.

Follow Up Appointments

After the initial appointment, it is recommended a client call back within seven to ten days to briefly discuss their progress, to note any changes and to answer any questions. Patients are encouraged to call the office with questions they may have at any time. Because many people are sensitive, we tend to give milder formulas the first appointment. Each formula can be made successively stronger. Depending on the complexity of the case, patients may have to check in every week until results begin happening. This is a very time consuming process, so we ask for you to be patient with our staff.

A follow up appointment should be scheduled three to five weeks after the initial visit, depending on the nature of the disease. At this time, the changes in health status from the previous visit will be noted. The client will be completely re-assessed and pulses will be carefully re-evaluated at this time. The formulas will be modified and strengthened to address all of the patient's individual needs. Years of experience has shown us the body starts showing deep changes about three weeks after starting formulas. This is an ideal time for a follow up. In ancient times, a true assessment or prognosis was not formulated until seeing a patient after the first follow up.

At follow up appointments, we begin to focus more on lifestyle and nutritional protocols. On the second and third appointment, we will perform a diet and nutritional analysis. For those with multiple food allergies, we consider different elimination and rechallenge protocols. At follow ups, we also begin to refine our assessment. Herbal formulas will be constantly modified and adjusted until the desired results begin to happen. This process requires new patients to check in on a regular basis.

Herbal formulas and nutritional recommendations will likely be changed or slightly modified to fit the ever-changing needs of the patient. Holistic healing is a very in-depth process that is similar to peeling an onion. One slowly corrects the surface issues, as you continually look to address the deeper issues. The unique needs of the body may change quickly, so the individualized program must be adjusted to ensure the body is adequately nourished on its path to true healing. As many illnesses improve or go away completely, older illnesses may surface. This is not an uncommon occurrence in the natural healing process, and it represents that next “layer of the onion that needs to be peeled away”. In Traditional Chinese Medicine, it is classically stated, “focus on the branch and root at the same time”. This means we always address the deeper root causes of imbalances, while at the same time improving the daily realistic complaints clients have.

After the first few follow-up appointments, it may not be necessary to return for a long period of time. More difficult, chronic or serious cases will require a follow-up every month for at least the first six months. The number of follow-up appointments will vary depending on the severity and difficulty of the case. Many clients choose to have a long term relationship with us. Even after they have achieved their health goals, they choose to focus on prevention or longevity. We are always here for clients whenever they made need a tune up or re-evaluation.

The Healing Process

Remember that illness was not created in one month, so it will take some time to create deep healing. As a general rule, it is commonly believed that for every one year of the illness, it will take one to three months of dedicated healing. If one has had an illness for 6 years, you can estimate it will take 6 - 18 months to create healing at the deepest levels. Have patience and remember that holistic healing addresses the true underlying cause of illness. Even though patients symptoms may feel completely improved, it can still take much time to truly reverse the disease process. Remember that holistic healing does not merely mask the illness but corrects imbalances at the very root or core of our being. Some chronic diseases may take many years to totally overcome. How quickly patients experience results will also depend on their ability to change their diet, make lifestyle improvements and be consistent with protocols. The amount of stress and the degree of emotional/spiritual balance also has a very large role to play in the healing process.

Do not be surprised to notice positive changes in your condition within seven to ten days. We feel like our work is so in-depth and our knowledge of herbalism so specific, that is common to notice minor changes fairly quickly. It may take up to four weeks or more to notice a reduction of symptoms in more severe cases. Remember that natural healing might be a slower process, but its powerful effects are often times permanent. By changing one’s constitution, a person’s body, life or reality may even be changed. After a dedicated course of formulas and lifestyle changes, many clients can completely go off of their natural supplements. Unlike western drug pharmaceuticals, when the root issue is resolved, people can often quit taking all their natural formulas too. At that time, some clients choose to actively pursue preventative holistic health care protocols.

What if I Experience Strong Reactions or Rapid Changes

Natural healing is truly a dynamic process of growth and change. Many patients are not expecting the degree of changes that can rapidly happen. If you experience strong changes or strong reactions to a formula that you are uncomfortable with, please stop taking your formulas and call our office. We can discuss exactly what your body is going through. Strong reactions are very common when undergoing detoxification therapies. Many of these rapid changes or reactions are extremely good indicators, but they can be very unusual to those not experienced to using natural healing methods. Some clients may experience both physical and emotional cleansing symptoms, similar to what often happens during counseling therapy.

Hours

Normal clinic hours are from 9:00 AM to 5:30 PM, Monday through Friday. Please call in advance before stopping by the office for a formula refill. Our formulas are custom made and require some time to compound.

Scheduling Appointments & Common Courtesy

We ask for the courtesy of a proper forty eight hour notice to change or cancel your appointment. We have a very small staff, and this makes our life much more peaceful! Appointments fill quickly, and this ensures that those in need can get the attention they seek. Not providing a twenty four hour notice or not showing up for an appointment will result in an automatic $35.00 rescheduling fee for the first missed appointment. Second occurrence of missing an appointment without a twenty four hour rescheduling notice will result in full consultation charge. This charge must be paid before another appointment can be rescheduled. We often have two month or longer wait list. No show appointments prevent those who are in great need from getting into appointments. This policy is a reflection of our dedication to patients and their healing journey. Please call the office if you are going to be arriving late or have difficulties finding the office.

FDA GMP Compliance

Four Winds strictly follows FDA's Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs). All formulas are made in a sanitary environment with a great deal of paperwork. We guarantee the quality of our work, that it is free of any adulterants, has no additives and is free of heavy metals or any contaminants. This is a great undertaking for a small family owned business and takes much time. It is part of our assurance to you to offer the best product available. We also guarantee that every single product or company we recommend has the highest quality standards in the industry.

Formula Refills

Your formulas are pieces of artwork that are custom made with great attention. These individualized formulas take much time and detail. With all the FDA paperwork we do on each formula, it takes a lot of time. We have two requests for refills. One, we request all clients text, email, or call forty eight hours in advance of needing a formula. Second, we request that clients refill at least two formulas at a time to help us out. When people are feeling great, we ask they try to refill enough formula to make it to their follow up. These changes allow us to serve you better and more effectively. If formulas need to be adjusted, we can easily modify them at your visit.

Referrals

We welcome referrals from physicians and other healthcare providers. We also welcome referrals from clients for their family and friends. Clients of all ages (infants to the elderly) can be seen for their unique holistic healthcare needs. Holistic healing can play a vital role in the recovery from most illnesses. Family and group sessions are also available. The best healing is when you can see the whole family! We currently see patients in over thirty states and enjoy seeing out of state patients.

Our Specialty- Difficult Cases

The Four Winds Natural Healing Center and Nicholas specialize in difficult and chronic cases. In the Chinese tradition, Nicholas specializes in what are called “knotted complex cases”. These cases are multilayer, complicated and multifactorial. These complex cases can have many years of layers and years of drug side effects to try to unravel. We love working with clients who have been to prestigious research medical centers and other specialists around the country. We routinely see patients who have failed to get results from national experts or other medical specialists.

Insurance Reimbursement

Patients must contact their insurance companies directly to determine their coverage and eligibility. We do not bill the insurance companies or directly contact insurance companies. If a medical doctor will write a prescription for nutrition counseling for seeing Nicholas, there is a better possibility of coverage. Please bring the prescription with you! Patients should be aware that nutrition counseling can sometimes be filed as tax deduction under medical expenses.

Health Spending Accounts

Many clients are able to use their Health Spending Accounts (HSA) or Medical Spending Accounts to pay for their appointments with Nicholas as nutritional counseling. Nutritional supplements may or may not be covered on the plan. Plans vary, so clients must contact their insurance provider or accountant directly to determine coverage.

Business Policies

Payment is due at time of office visit. We accept Visa, Mastercard and Discover, cash and check. A $30.00 service charge will be automatically charged to any returned checks. Payment on returned checks must be made in full before the next office visit. Special payment plans are available for all who qualify. We always do our best to serve all those in need.

All opened herbs and custom herbal formulas are nonrefundable because we cannot reuse them. Refunds cannot be made for past appointments. Refunds for package deals will be charged the full initial appointment charge ($160 Nicholas) and refunded the remaining balance ($150 Nicholas). With one follow up appointment, the patient will be charged an additional regular follow up fee and refunded the remaining balance ($45 Nicholas).
